STATE HOLDS $5.40 DAY EXPENSE IS EXCESSIVE

Judge Vickery requested that he be told on what authority the state auditor supervised his expense counts. Donahey answered: "Judge when a man cats $5.40 worth in one day to keep body and soul together, as auditor of the state, I do not consult the law, as guardian of the taxpayers' money, I consult my conscience. Judge Vickery wrote that he intended to live at a first class hotel "and I propose," he added, "to have the money necessary therefore, and if the state won't pay it. I'll either go without the money, or know the reason why the state won't pay it." Donahey replied: "You'll go without the money, all right, judge, unless the supreme court orders me to pay

The state auditor held that regardless of the high cost of living $5 is sufficient to cover both lodging and meals for any public official.
